Rules of Invitation Promotion for Trainers

This document explains how Fittery invitation promotion (or referral bonus) works for trainers. There are several user journeys that can occur and how the referral fee is applied and under what conditions it's assigned. Existing Fittery trainers can invite both sporters and trainers. Trainers can see a unique personal sporter-referral-link and a trainer-referral-link in their account that can be shared with family & friends or other trainers, either via email, whatsapp and or socials.

Trainer invites new Sporter

- Every trainer gets the opportunity to send this sporter-referral-link to family, friends, existing clients and other connections with no maximum. A maximum can be applied in a later stage in time.
- The trainer that invites a new sporter, which in his turn has booked at least one paid sports lesson, will get €7,50 through a bank transfer, and is processed automatically with a maximum delay of 31 calendar days after the new sporter has activated their account and booked and visited a first paid sports lesson.
- Additional agreements are optionally made within the Cooperation Agreement (for example different commission rates or one-off fees).
- This referral fee (and optional additional agreements) for this promotion will only be processed if the new sporter's registration happens directly via the sporter-referral-link, it can not be added later in the sign-up process. And only applies if the new sporter has not been registered as a member at Fittery before.
- A new sporter can only use 1 unique trainer referral link. The new sporter will not receive a special promotion through your referral.
